Letter from the chair:

First let me start by thanking everyone for all the work they did in preparation for the upcoming AAG meeting in Denver. We are sponsoring or co-sponsoring a number of sessions that look quite interesting; you can read the descriptions on pages 3 - 12 of this newsletter. Special thanks to Owen Dwyer and Daniel Trudeau for organizing these specialty group sessions and to Eugene McCann and Sarah Elwood for judging the MA thesis competition.

Some important dates for the AAG meetings are the following: the annual UGSG Business Meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 6, at 7:00. This will be our only meeting this year and I encourage everyone to participate. At the meeting we will announce the winners of the student competitions, introduce ideas for future AAG initiatives and sessions, and discuss some current issues around electoral balloting and financing. Second, our invited plenary speaker Ananya Roy, will present her UGSG lecture on Thursday, April 7, at 3:00. The title of her talk is "Debtscape: The Urban-Rural Geographies of Neoliberal Populism." In her talk she examines the implications of the rise of microcredit in the global South with a focus on three urban-rural geographies: the hyperglobalization of the rural periphery, the institutional logic of Washington DC expressed in an urban axis of command and control, and the Third World production of a counter geography of alternative development. I encourage everyone to attend this talk. Please note also that this plenary will be followed by the Antipode Lecture at 5:00, which is being given by our past UGSG president Gerry Pratt. The title of her talk is "Spaces of Exception in a Neoliberal City." These two talks together should make for a great urban afternoon.

A third date of interest relates to a colloquium being offered through the National Academy of Sciences on the theme of Early Cities: New Perspectives on Pre-Industrial Urbanism. The Early Cities colloquium will take place at the National Academy of Sciences building in Washington D.C. on May 18-20, 2005 and student travel grants are continued on page 2 available for those interested. For more information or to register for the colloquium, go to <http://www.nas.edu/sackler/earlycities> or send an email to sackler@nas.edu.

There are a number of urban-related fieldtrips at the Denver AAG that may be of interest: Urbanization of the Colorado Front Range – Past, Present, and Future Monday, April 4: 8am – 4pm; The Denver Metropolitan Region: including the Core, Edge City, “Exurbia” and Gambling in the Foothills Wednesday, April 6: 9am – 4pm; The Urban Landscape: A Walking Tour of Downtown Denver and Platte Valley Thursday and Friday, April 7, 8: 1pm – 4pm. You can get more details about these trips on the AAG website.

Thanks to everyone who participated in the UGSG board election. Our new board members for 2005-2007 are Mary Thomas and Norma Rantisi. Thanks for your willingness to serve with us and congratulations! Welcome also to Mona Atia, the new student member of the board. Many thanks to Scott Salmon and Barney Warf, who will finish their terms at the end of this year.

Eugene McCann has kindly agreed to lead the Business Meeting this year in my absence. If you have any issues or items for the agenda of that meeting, please contact him directly at emccann@sfu.ca. Best of luck to all for a great meeting in Denver.

AAG-DENVER SESSION ANNOUNCEMENTS

Of interest to graduate Students:

Dear fellow graduate students:

In effort to enhance the professional development of graduate students in our field, we have organized the following panel session, to take place at the annual conference in Denver. We hope you can attend.

Becoming an Academic Human Geographer

Session 2117: Wednesday, April 6, from 8:00 am – 9:40 am.

Panel Session on Graduate Students and Professional Development in Academic Geography

What should graduate students do to best prepare themselves for a career in academic geography? Beyond writing a dissertation, what should graduate students do to be competitive in the academic job market? Becoming an academic geographer may seem a daunting task, often laden with concern about how one ought to spend their limited time and effort to prepare for the academic job market. Please come to this panel session where we will bring together established academic geographers and graduate students to discuss ways to best prepare for a career in academia.

-Daniel Trudeau & Rebecca Theobald, University of Colorado at Boulder

GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

The AAG Specialty/Affinity Group Online News and Discussion Forum List-serv is up and running. [Editor's note: As I understand it, this is a new AAG centralized forum that is in addition to the URBGEOG listserv.] Please note the following introductory letter from Robert Andelman:

Dear AAG Specialty Group Member:

I am happy to announce a new AAG program that you may have already heard about -- the new AAG Specialty Group News and Discussion Forums. This new Members Only benefit enhances the ability of all Specialty Groups to communicate with their members, and allows group members to communicate easily amongst themselves.

You can access this new service through the AAG website by logging in with your existing AAG login ID and password. Please use the forgot my password link if you do not have this information, or contact Heather Heimbuch hheimbuch@aag.org for assistance. Once you've logged in, please review the brief instruction document posted in the download section of the Specialty Group News and Discussion Forums area.

If you would like to post to a Forum, simply log in and follow the on-screen instructions. You may manage the way you receive posts and news items by logging in and indicating whether you would like to receive emails as they are generated, daily digests, once-a-week summaries, or no emails at all (in which case you must use the AAG website to access the Forums). You may update your preferences at will, so feel free to try more than one option to see what works best for you.

I hope you'll enjoy the opportunity to participate in topical discussions with your colleagues via these new Forums, and that they'll help you keep up with Specialty Group news and activities. If you find that you need assistance, please contact Gayathri Gopiram at ggopiram@aag.org

Sincerely,
Robert Andelman

CONFERENCE ANNOUNCEMENT: Urban Geography Commission in International Geographical Union will hold it's annual meeting in Tokyo next August. For more information, please visit: <http://www.cities-of-tomorrow.com/>

NEW BOOK ANNOUNCEMENT: Neil Brenner, 2004. New State Spaces: Urban Governance and the Rescaling of Statehood. Oxford and New York: Oxford University Press. "In this synthetic, interdisciplinary work, Neil Brenner develops a new interpretation of the transformation of statehood under contemporary globalizing capitalism. Whereas most analysts of the emergent, post-Westphalian world order have focused on supranational and national institutional realignments, New State Spaces argues that strategic subnational spaces, such as cities and city-regions, represent essential institutional arenas in which states are today being transformed." Further details can be found at: <http://www.oup.co.uk/isbn/0-19-927006-6>

NEW BOOK ANNOUNCEMENT: Laurence J. C. Ma and Fulong Wu (eds.) 2005. Restructuring the Chinese city: Changing society, economy and space. London and New York: Routledge. "Bringing together the work of leading scholars specializing in urban China, this book examines what has happened to the Chinese city undergoing multiple transformations during the reform era, with an emphasis on new processes of urban formation and the consequent reconstructed urban spaces."
